THE LARGEST DIAMONDS.

A Dozen of So of the Most Noted Speci mens of Petrified Light. The largest diamond in the world is the Braganza-weight 1.880 carats. It was found in Brazil in 1741, and is now one of the Portugese crown jewels. Much doubt exists as to its being a gennine diamond, says the St. Louis Republic, the government never having allowed it to be tested. Another fine diamond is the Mattam, belonging to the rajah of Mattam, Borneo. It is of the first water and weighs 307 carats. It bears a striking resemblance to a Landak, Borneo, in 1760, and has been the cause of several sanguinary wars. The Koh-i-noor, another of the famous diamonds of history, now forms one of the crown jewels of Grent Britain. The history of this gem dates back to 1506. It originally weighed 793 carats, but was reduced by unskillful cutting to 186 carats; this while it was the property of the Emperor Aurenzebe. It was captured by the British troops during the Sikh mutiny and was presented to Queen Victoria in 1850. Since coming into Victoria's possession it has been recut and now weighs but 106 1-16 carats. The Pit or Regent diamond be-The Total Wreck mine is being longed to the French crown jewels. It was bought by the duke of Orleans, then regent of France, of Pit, the governor of Fort St. George, for £135,000. When in the rough the stone weighed 450 carats. The cutting alone cost $10,000. Among the large and otherwise famous The new agent at Bowie Station is diamonds of the world the following-Florentine Brilliant, 13914 carats; the carats. The noted diamonds of lesser size and value are: The Dresden, the Hope, the Austrian Yellow and the Polar Star.

Congressman Oates, of Alabama, with his fifty-six years and only one arm, has of the other arm, says the Washington Post. During the war he served in the confederate army, and it was before Richmond that he received the wounds that necessitated the amputation of the right arm. At this time it was that Oates was obliged to lay off on sick eldest daughter. When he pulled his affection is not told. Ontes was too weak to return to his command, and between fretting over his rejected suit Col Mike Grey is not disheartened and at the delay in his return to the urnish his own animal and arms of marriageable age he reminded her mother of her old promise made over the baby's cradle. There was no opposition to the match and the couple unusually happy. This accounts for the difference in age, at which many people have wondered. Mrs. Oates is a precty woman, with southern grace and hos-

Small quantities of these hairs administered daily in the food bring on ulceration of the whole alimentary canal, stimulating malignant dysentery. The action must be of a mechanical rather than of a chemical nature, just as the spores of the common pull ball act upon the eyes.

The bamboo crystal is greatly dreaded by all the European residents of Java. named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and ever they take a fancy to a white man, bles. If the light from a caudie or

"When Harvard celebrated the end of the war," says Julius H. Ward in th January New England Magazine, "Phil lina Brooks was asked to make the prayer on the occasion. The man whos eart and imagination had been fire to the atmost in the heat of the content could not even pray on such an occusion without breaking forth into word that rose to the greatness of the event and Col. Henry Lee, the Harvard man shal for that day, once said to me The services on that occasion were not qual to what men feit. Everything fell short and words seemed to be too weak. Phillips Brooks' prayer was an exception. That was a free speaking to God, and it was the only etterance of that day which filled out its mean ing to the full extent. Lowell's commemoration ode was great, and so was passed them both. The eager inquiry of that day after that prayer was 'Who is Phillips Brooks?' It was the first time that he had appeared before or most distinguished could be collect. a in New England, and from that moment the growing thought at Trinity church was to induce Bu Enstman to resign and to call Phillips Brooks to the rectorship of Trinity
